

April 21, 2006

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing on behalf of David Choi. I have had the pleasure of working with David for over five years at Meadowdale High School, in the Edmonds School District. During this time, David has been an instructor in the classroom, a mentor for other instructors in the District, the developer and founder of the 3D program in the Edmonds School District, and a volunteer presenter in my 3D classes.

Over the last five years David has made it his passion to pass on his tremendous talent and enthusiasm for graphic arts on to young high school students. As a role model for hard work and enthusiasm he has been a catalyst for students winning local film festivals and being accepted into prestigious art schools around the country. He has a way of "infecting" students with the excitement for 3D graphic arts while delivering the realities of what it takes to become a successful professional in this extremely competitive industry.

What is inspiring to me as a teacher is that David is life long learner. He is on a quest to experience and create art in many different mediums. Whether he is creating indie games, animating shorts, teaching or filmmaking, David, has always, and will continue to strive to create new experiences for himself through his art. Without hesitation, I recommend David for employment within your company. Any company or institution would be lucky to have David on their team.

If you have any further questions about David, please feel free to call me at (425) 670-7311 ext. 6554 or email me at brackens@edmonds.wednet.edu.

Sincerely,

Scott Bracken
Business/Technology Instructor and Department Chair
Meadowdale High School